

Brian Krzanich

Brian Matthew Krzanich, male, born in 1960, U.S. citizen, independent member. Member of the SB since 2019, current term of office until 2022. Brian Matthew Krzanich joined Intel in 1982 as an engineer and held different management positions in numerous departments, such as SVP and GM of Manufacturing and Supply Chain and EVP & COO (Chief Operating Officer) responsible for global manufacturing, supply chain, human resources and information technology. In 2013 Brian Krzanich was appointed as the CEO of Intel. He led Intel's corporate strategy and operations, including development of Intel's business model and identifying emerging technologies. While serving in this role, Mr. Krzanich was credited for diversifying Intel's product offerings and workforce. Brian Krzanich is currently President and CEO of CDK Global, a leading supplier of integrated software along with digital marketing and advertising solutions to the retail automotive industry worldwide. He has served the Boards of Deere & Company and the Semiconductor Industry Association. Brian Krzanich holds a bachelor's degree in chemistry from San Jose State University.

Other SB mandates at publically listed companies: Electric Last Mile Solutions Inc. (USA);
Member of the Management Board (CEO) of CDK Global, Inc. (USA)